Gregory McGinity

Gregory McGinity was appointed to the Board in July, 2017. He is executive director for The Eli and Edythe Broad Foundation, which seeks to ensure that every student in an urban public school has the opportunity to succeed. Bringing together top education experts and practitioners, the foundation funds system-wide programs and policies that strengthen public schools by creating environments that allow good teachers to do great work and enable students of all backgrounds to learn and thrive. McGinity has been with the foundation since 2003 and currently leads the foundation's education grantmaking.

Prior to joining The Broad Foundation, McGinity was the senior education policy consultant to the California State Board of Education, where he worked on the creation of California’s academic content standards and assessment system. McGinity also previously worked on the staff of two members of the U.S. Congress and served as a legislative liaison at the U.S. Department of Education. He was a senior fellow at the UCLA Luskin School of Public Affairs and took a leave from The Broad Foundation in 2005 to serve briefly as chief of staff to the California secretary of education.

McGinity received a bachelor’s degree in history and political science from the University of California, Berkeley and an M.B.A. from the UCLA Anderson School, where he was a Sigoloff Fellow.