Secondary Institute:
Teaching Creativity with California State Standards

This arts education professional development series is designed for secondary teachers, art coordinators, secondary administrators, and assistant superintendents. The workshop series frames the importance of the arts to engage and maximize student learning. This two-day series will involve participants in activities to create multidisciplinary and project-based teaching in alignment with California State Standards including History-Social Studies, English Language Arts, Science, and Visual and Performing Arts. Extensive resources will be provided including video of modeled strategies, art works, lesson plans and scholarly research.

Session 1: October 5, 2018
Session 1 – The Silk Road and the Cave Temples of Dunhuang
- Explore the concepts of globalization through the influence of the Silk Road
- Experience inquiry based teaching in alignment with the new History - Social Studies Framework
- Use NGSS phenomenon with the conservation of the ancient caves
- Learn how to enhance student “argument” writing through historical case studies of cave explorers
- Create a fresco to extend the learning into the arts.
